LINCOLNWOOD
LIBRARY

What are OCLC, WorldCat, and FirstSearch?

OCLC is a worldwide library organization that works with librarians to provide access to resources for learning and research. It offers technology and shared services to open up access to materials from thousands of libraries.

WorldCat is the world's largest library catalog with almost a billion items. FirstSearch uses that online catalog to provide results for items Lincolnwood residents can request from other libraries.

If you haven't yet, sign up for your library card in person or online at <https://bit.ly/3NP1BGs>

How to access FirstSearch

1. Go to the library's website, lincolnwoodlibrary.org
2. Hover over Resources. Select Resource Quick Links.
3. Scroll and select View Resource to the right of WorldCat.

FirstSearch

It will load the Lincolnwood Public Library District FirstSearch page which allows you to enter your item search.

Searching

Enter what you are looking for in the Search for text box.

You can select subject databases to search using the In field.

Select Search to see results.

Or you can go to an advanced search using Select a Database to Search. We recommend choosing WorldCat.

Evaluating results

Search results show basic information about items like the title, authors, publisher. You can also see how many libraries in the WorldCat system have the item. You can limit results by Audience (Any, Juvenile, not Juvenile), Content (Fiction, not Fiction etc.), and by Format (DVD, CD, Large Print etc.). After updating any limits, select Search again to see updated results. Select the title to see detailed information.

The screenshot shows a search results interface with the following elements:

- Navigation: "Prev" button, a text input field containing "1", and a "Next" button.
- Database Selection: Three buttons labeled "All 14", "Books 12", and "Internet 2".
- Filtering: A section titled "Limit results:" with three dropdown menus: "Any Audience", "Any Content", and "Any Format". A blue "Search" button with a magnifying glass icon is to the right.

You can select Prev or Next to evaluate more pages of search results. Icons to the left of results indicate what type of item they are – book covers for physical books, globes for online resources, and pictures for visual media like movies.

Select a title to see more information about any result.

Advanced searching

If you jumped to advanced search, the WorldCat Advanced Search function offers more detailed tools than the basic search.

- Search in database – We recommend WorldCat, but there are several databases that FirstSearch can query.
- Search for – You can enter up to three search terms for different types of information like keyword, author, publisher, ISBN, title, and more.
- Limit to – You can select a year, the language of the material, and how many libraries have certain items.
- Limit type to – Select formats like Books, Articles, Maps, Sound Recordings, & Visual Materials (includes DVD movies).
- Subtype limits – Filter by Audience, Content, and format (see page 3 for more information).
- Rank by – Set how results display: number of libraries an item is owned by, relevance, or publication date.

The more information you put into this advanced search function the more specific your search results will be. However if you enter too much information, you may not see any results.

When you've entered your options, select Search at the top or bottom or Clear to start over.

Thomas Rogers

1972

English  Book : Fiction 377 pages 22 cm

New York, Simon and Schuster ; ISBN: 0671212664 9780671212667

It begins fine and familiar and hokey and breezy. Heather, son of the Episcopal Bishop of Kansas City, arrives at Harvard in the late Forties, reads books, sleeps with a girl, and is generally unhappy. The confessional habit of the older Heather looking back on all this is not one that encourages us to take it very seriously. --NY Review of Books.
